Hi Steve,

Thanks for the reply. As you think lead times may increase let's get another order in to the system, please find this attached.

Thanks in advance and I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Nicky

Hi Nicky

No problem at all. Normally we would say 4 -6 weeks. However, there is a large demand at the moment, which I don't fully understand; the demand usually starts to increase around February. Also, we have the Christmas/New Year holidays.

Would you want sensors for February?

Hi Steve,

Many thanks for the e-mail, I am sorry for the delay in replying, I have been away from the office.

It is very difficult to predict our requirements at this time of year as demand can vary, I would anticipate that we will need to order another batch of 200 cells fairly shortly, please can you give me an indication of the current lead time?

Thanks in advance.

Best regards,

Nicky

Hi Nicky

Time seems to be ticking away faster and faster.

200 sensors were shipped to you late November. Have you thought about your requirements for January, February and March; or is it too early yet for you?
