From Michael Goddard: I work in Clinical Engineering at Addenbrookes Hospital in Cambridge, and we have a V1000 foetal heart simulator (serial number PR049A241410000) which we would like to return to you for service and certificate of calibration for £45. Could you provide a returns reference number please?

SL: I have advised the SRS number and also asked him to clarify serial number as that is not bringing any result up on the system.
