Hi Steve - I have a new customer (PreSet Calibration Services CID35403) who called last week asking for an AX300, they've got an old device of ours but they didn't buy it from us. He was originally enquiring about having it repaired, but now wants a quote for the MAXO2ME instead and is asking for distributor pricing - are you happy for him to have this considering they've not ordered from us before?
