

Device Theory.

Ventilator Tube Holders are clear flat acrylic sheets, bent at right angles in the middle, usually used to hold IV and Ventilator Tubes.

It can be used to support these tubes etc, when babies are in incubators, or additionally ti can be used when babies are under overhead heaters.

The Tube Holder is a means of maintaining an open working environment for the clinicians, thus not being hampered by overlaying and intrusive tubes when treating babies.