Good morning Tracy,

Thank you for your reply.

The remaining 50 x 0110023 - 20250904001-1/CVM158834 have been saved for you and are dated October 2025. I have checked with Ryan, and he has advised that if you need to order them back to back from Honeywell, but there could be a long lead time, recently it has been 3 months.

Please could I ask if I am able to proceed with your new order 20260320001 - if you agree to the shipping being in batches of 100 at a time, then I can use the $32 price.

Regarding your order 20251201001/CVM160470 to ship 30 of the 60 x 0110081 UFO 130-2 sensors, these are dated January 2026.

Kind regards

Good morning Tracy,

Just to clarify:

You require half of your order CVM160470/2025120100 to be shipped asap = 30 x 0110081 - UFO 130-2.

Also, you require the 50 x 0110023 to be shipped from CVM158834/20250904001-1. The date of manufacture is October 2025. This order will then be complete.

In relation to your newest order for 200 x 0110023 R-32V sensors - CVM162508/20260320001, I can only use the $32 price if you agree to this order being shipped in two lot sensors.

I look forward to your reply.

Kind regards

Hello Kate,

Since domestic hospitals require that R-23v sensor be less than 6 months old at the time of admission, if they were manufactured in 2026, please ship 150 R-23V. If they were m 2025, we do not currently need that many, so please let us know the production dates of the R-23v sensor. Thank you.
Additionally, UFO 130-2 sensor, please arrange to ship 30 units.

Tracy

Good afternoon Tracy,

Thank you for your order for 200 sensors (unboxed) to be shipped in two lots as x50 and x150.

Ryan has asked me to let you know that in order for you to qualify for the $32 price, we would need to ship the orders as two lots of 100 sensors.

Please let me know how you would like me to proceed.

Many thanks.

Kind regards
