Dear Kate,

As we are facing problems with air freight due to situation in the region, express courier companies are facing difficulties handling shipments into Iraq, hence, I cannot control shipment availability, time, and cost.

So, I cannot (at least for now) purchase required oxygen analyzer and wait for 2 months (if even possible) to receive it as final selling price & delivery time for our customers is unknown

What I need from you to inform me when required items are actually available in stock so we can decide at the time what we will do.

Thanks for your understanding & continues support.
