Hi Catrin,

Thanks for the email and the information. The hospital hasn't confirmed it yet. I think if they do, a better option would be the MOX-3 sensor because it seems to be the original one for the device. I'll let you know as soon as they confirm. Thanks.

Asunto: Re: Back in Stock Notification Request: MAX-3

Hi Alan,

I just wanted to follow up regarding your enquiry for the MAX-3 Oxygen Sensor (0110403) to confirm whether this is still required.

As previously advised, there is currently no stock available and no incoming stock on order. The lead time remains up to 8 weeks from the point of order, with a confirmed delivery date provided once this has been placed. We would be happy to raise a proforma invoice should you wish to proceed so that we can order directly with the manufacturer.

Alternatively, we can offer the following (datasheets attached):

- City Technology MOX3 (0110503), which has a shorter lead time of approximately two to three weeks from order placement.
- Envitec by Honeywell OOM113 (0110579), which we currently have in stock, available for immediate dispatch.

If you require any further information, pricing confirmation, or would like to proceed with any of these option, please do let me know and I will be happy to assist.

If this enquiry is no longer relevant or required, please let me know and I shall remove it from our chase list.

Kind regards
