Dear Dr Richmond

I trust from the lack of communication in recent months that there are no causes of complaint with the Tom Thumb and that all are working satisfactory.

The project is still on going, and although the product itself is basically complete the paperwork as ever continues. We are aiming to acquire all the standards and certification required by European Directives to prove that the products we sell meet the highest standards.

The one thing missing from our files, regarding the Tom Thumb which hopefully you can help us with is the clinical evaluation. If you have any information regarding clinical tests, reports or any other literature regarding the Tom Thumb we would be very grateful to hear from you. If we need to purchase any of this information it should not cause us a problem.

If you have any queries I am in the office most days should you want to call.

Yours sincerely

Peter Lamb
