Maxtec has joined forces with Perma Pure, a Halma company!

Valued Maxtec Customer,

Maxtec is excited to announce that we are now a Halma company! Halma is a global group of life-saving technology companies, focused on making the world cleaner, safer, and healthier. Maxtec is joining the Medical sector operating autonomously under Perma Pure. We are thrilled to join Halma and Perma Pure and look forward to the new opportunities and long-term growth this will bring for Maxtec, our customers, and our team.

Maxtec will not only continue, but will increase investment and focus on being the leader in oxygen supply, sensing, monitoring, and will continue to build and expand our partnership.

Maxtec's key leadership will remain in place and relationships with your current account managers will not change. Business will continue as usual. Halma will provide an opportunity for Maxtec and Perma Pure to extend our product offering to grow business with our current customers.

We hope to be in touch to talk with you more about opportunities to align and work together as we continue on our path for growth.

Sincerely,

Sharon Bracken, President
