Hi Callum

Thank you very much for your order.

Unfortunately we are out of stock of most sensors at the moment, including the R-17VAN, due to production being prioritised towards medical sensors. I am expecting to have more of these sensors available at the end of August, but it is changeable depending on medical requirements.

I am really sorry for the inconvenience. Would you like to cancel your order or should we keep the order until they become available?

I will await your reply.

Best regards

Ryan
