Hi Tom

No problem, we can take your order and not take payment until stock arrives. We would then give you a call to make your payment before shipping. There would be no obligation on your part, I would just ask you to let us know if you would prefer to cancel.

Best regards

Ryan

Hi Ryan

With that in mind, in regards to placing an order to secure a place in the queue is this something that we could get refunded if we had to go elsewhere due to an additional delay further than September.

I ask this as the boss wouldn't be happy if I asked to buy another analyser and still have to pay for this.

We would be happy to accept an order beginning October but we would struggle if it would go past this time.

I appreciate a further delay is something none of us can predict.

Cheers

Tom

Hi Tom

We are scheduled for late September for the sensors, but nothing is definite at the moment. If you decide to proceed, I would suggest you place and order and we can add you to the queue for when they arrive.

I am sorry for the inconvenience.

Best regards

Ryan
