

Compatibility Trials

Not required

The properties of this product are well known and have been substantially tested by the users .
Over the first four years of its existence no questions were raised about its accuracy or ability to measure oxygen percentage.