Thank you for confirming Glen.

Our part number is 0111235, however unfortunately, I have to inform you that this device can no longer be sold in the UK or EU as it no longer carries a CE certification. This does not affect any devices already in service, which still hold a valid CE certification that was in place at the time that the devices were supplied and can continue to be used.

Please see the link below for other alternatives to the AX300.

Good morning Glen,

Thank you for your purchase order.

Please can you provide me with a description or our part number for the sensor that you require?

Kind regards
