Hi Robi,

Further to my previous email, I am just wondering if you have had time to think on whether you would still like us to quote for a V1000 unit, or if you would like to leave it until we have a clearer idea on when production can resume? If so, we can just quote the 2x Ultramax for now.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards

Hi Robi,

Thank you for your reply. With regards to the V1000 Foetal Heart Simulator, we unfortunately have had to temporarily stop production due to a shortage of components, which we are trying to source elsewhere - we do not know what the time scale will be before we are able to start production again - would you still like us to quote for 1 unit, or just the 2x Ultramax for now?

Kind regards
